The Awards and Personalization Association is seeking submissions from retailers and those professionals that support business operations to present education February 20-23 at the 2018 International Awards & Personalization Expo in Las Vegas, NV. The largest membership organization in the industry, the Awards and Personalization Association is committed to delivering educational contents for all levels and positions. The skills you've refined over the years—technical or business-related—can benefit other industry professionals.

The Education Committee will use the completed submission forms to choose sessions and speakers based on quality, relevance, defined focus and learning objectives, and practical application to industry professionals. If you are selected and present a seminar, you will receive $500 and one night's hotel accommodation at the headquarters hotel. Staff will notify chosen speakers by mid-August.

Note: There is one honorarium per session, no matter how many speakers are part of a single session; speakers who present two sessions will receive an additional $250 and an additional hotel night.
